MAAC Championships

1993

The 1993 Fairfield Stags won the first MAAC Title in program history after posting a 6-0-1 record. The Stags would win the MAAC Tournament Finals in a penalty kick shootout against Loyola.

1995

The 1995 squad also became known as a dramatic and exciting team, winning the title after posting a 9-9-2 record during the regular season. To win the title, the Stags defeated both Saint Peter's and Loyola in penalty kicks in the tournament.

1997

The 1997 team earned the program's first NCAA Tournament appearance after posting an 18-4-0 record, including an unblemished 9-0-0 MAAC slate. The Stags defeated Central Connecticut in the NCAA Play-In game for a victory in the tournament.

1998

After winning 15-straight games, the Stags once again found themselves in the NCAA tournament, posting a dramatic double overtime win over Loyola. In the tournament, the Stags gave the Maryland Terrapins everything they could handle in a 4-3 loss.

1999

The Stags made it three-straight MAAC titles in two dramatic contests. In the semifinals, Meredith McGowan scored the lone goal in the third overtime against Niagara. Fairfield would later go on to beat Loyola in penalty kicks 4-3 for the title.

2005

The 2005 team made history as they became the first five-seed in MAAC tournament history to hoist the trophy. In the semifinals, the Stags upset the five-time defending champions Loyola when MT Church converted a penalty kick in the 80th minute.

2008

Ahna Johnson put her name into MAAC tournament lore when she netted a hat trick against top-ranked Loyola in the Championship Game to give the Stags the victory. The Stags would go on to drop a 3-1 decision against Oklahoma State in the tournament.
